Notes for HENRY ADAMS:

Per SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers, v. 1

ADAMS, HENRY, Braintree, came early to our country, and tradition says from Braintree was part, i. e. the portion for ten heads. Perhaps he was the first clerk of the town, after separating from Boston, though more likely is it that his son of the same name had the honor; and he died or was buried 8 October 1646, leaving by tradition eight sons yet only five are named in his will, 1646, proved 8 June 1647, where appear Peter, John, Joseph, Edward, Samuel, and daughter Ursula. Of this daughter as tradition took no notice, it may be that the number eight applied to sons means in truth children seven sons and one daughter but names enough for the sons may be seen, and certainly one son good, if not two beyond the deviees in the will, as Henry, Thomas, Jonathan, in some reports called William. The inscription on the monument erected by his descendant, John Adams, second President of memor. of Henry Adams who took his flight from the Dragon persecution, in Devonshire, England and alighted with eight sons, near Mt. Wollaston. One of the sons returned to England and, after taking some time to explore the country, four removed to Medfield, and the neighboring towns, two to Chelmsford. One only, Joseph, who lies here at his left hand, remained here; who was an original proprietor in the township of Braintree incorporated 1639."

From Farmer's Genealogical Register of the First Settlers of New England:

ADAMS, HENRY, Braintree, came from Devonshire, England, it is said by Alden and others, in 1630, but probably not so early; settled at Braintree, where he died 8 Oct. 1646, leaving sons, Henry, Samuel, Thomas, Peter, Joseph, Edward, and two others. To his memory is erected in Quincy, by his illustrious descendant, John Adams, a monument with an inscription, from which the following is extracted: "In memory of HENRY ADAMS, who took his flight from the Dragon persecution, in Devonshire, England, and alighted with eight sons near Mount Wollaston. One of the sons returned to England, and, after taking some time to explore the country, four removed to Medfield and the neighbouring towns; two to Chelmsford. One only, Joseph, who lies here at his left hand, remained here, who was an original proprietor in the township of Braintree, incorporated in 1639."

Per POPE, Pioneers of Massachusetts, p.10:

"ADAMS, Henry, Sen., Braintree, had land grant at Mt. Wollaston 24 (12) 1639-40, 40 acres for 10 heads. Signed petition about meadows in 1646. [Arch. 45.] He was buried 8 (8) 1646. Nuncupative will probated 8 (4) 1647, on testimony of Benjamin Allbe and Richard Brackett. Inventory filed, bequeathed to wife; to sons Peter,

John, Joseph, Edward and Samuel, and daughter Ursula. House and lands, etc. Books to be divided among his children. Money due to son Samuel for ground bought of him; part of his land to return to the town. John (probably this son), deposed at Cambridge 7 (8) 1656, age about 35 years [Middlesex Files], Samuel m. Mary Eaglesfield, q.v. [Henry, town clerk, lieutenant, owner of a mill afterwards at Medfield, who married Elizabeth, daughter of Moses Paine, is believed to have been another son of Henry, Senior; but the writer has found no proof of this nor any trace of the origin of the family, in any contemporaneous document.]"

Per NEHGS Register, v. 79 (1925), p. 217

"The English Home of Henry Adams, of Braintree, Mass. -- During the last hundred years at least four erroneous claims have been made about the English home of the well-known Adams family of Braintree, Mass.

In 1823 President John Adams (John, Joseph, Joseph, Henry) erected a monument in Quincy to Henry Adams, his immigrant ancestor, the inscription stating that he 'took flight from the Dragon Persecution in Devonshire in England.'

In 1853, a long pedigree, purporting to exist in an original manuscript in England, was printed in the (NEHGS) Register, which set forth that Henry Adams was descended from a landed Adams family of Fenn and Waton in Stoke-Gabriel, co. Devon, which, it was claimed, was derived from the baronial family of Ap Adam of Tidenham and Beverstone, co. Gloucester. The late Colonel Chester and others showed this pedigree to be a worthless forgery (see Register, v. 7, pp. 39-41, v. 31, p. 333, v. 34, pp. 432-433, and v. 37, pp. 159-160)

Because Braintree, Mass., was named for the parish of Braintree, co. Essex, England, the late Charles Francis Adams, about 1900, conjectured that Henry Adams might have come from Essex, and a Henry Adams was located near Chelmsford in that county who seemed to him to be, possibly, the emigrant to New England; but this supposition was certainly erroneous....

Henry Adams, the founder of the Braintree family, was born about 1583 at Barton St. David, co. Somerset. At least four generations of his ancestors resided there, and the Adams name is found on records in the immediate vicinity of that parish as far back as 1327."

Notes for DEACON JONATHAN ADAMS:

Per SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers, v. 1

ADAMS, JONATHAN, Medfield, called senior when his inventory of 15 February 1692, was produced at Probate Court, had been thought son of the first Henry, though no other circumstance is to be discerned in support of such assumption than that Edward of Medfield who was a son of Henry gave to his eldest son this name of Jonathan. Scrutiny has been applied, and Vinton, 296, could find two wives, Elizabeth and Mary, but mentions no children.

Drew 84 acres in West Medway 1659, a few rods north of his brother Edward's. His estate was inventoried 1691/92 when he had land and buildings west of the Charles River.

Notes for STEPHEN STREETER:

Per SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers, v. 4

STREETER, STEPHEN, Gloucester 1642, perhaps was owner of a house earlier, removed to Charlestown, there by wife Ursula had Hannah, born 10 November 1644; was freeman probably as Farmer happily conjectures that year in May, but not admitted in right of the Charlestown church to which he united with his wife 21 March, not October as Barry made it, 1652. He probably had other children before or after or both, Stephen, Samuel and John, and, I think, died before 1657, in which year the widow married 13 October Samuel Hosier; and she had third husband and 15 July 1673 took for her fourth Griffin Crafts.

From Farmer's Genealogical Register of the First Settlers of New England:

STREETER, STEPHEN, Charlestown 1644, probably the freeman admitted that year, whose name is spelled Streete in ii. Winthrop, 373.

From Pope's The Pioneers of Massachusetts:

STREETER, Stephen, shoemaker, Gloucester, propr. 1642 or earlier; [may be the Ste. Streete, frm. May 29, 1644.] Rem. to Charlestown; adm. to chh. with wife Ursula 14 (1) 1652. Ch. Stephen, Samuel, John, Sarah, Hannah b. at Char. 10 (9) 1654, Rebecca.

His will dated 10 (4), prob. 24 (5) 1652, beq. to wife Ursula and these children, committing the two latter, respectively, to Richard Sprague and Charles Chadwick. The widow m. 13 Oct. 1657, Samuel Hosier of Watertown. [Reg. XXXVI, 161.]

From Historic Homes and Institutions and Genealogical and Personal Memoirs of Worcester County Massachusetts with a History of Worcester Society of Antiquity, Volume I, c. 1907:

STEPHEN P. STREETER. Stephen Streeter (I), first of Gloucester, Massachusetts, in 1642, was the emigrant ancestor of Stephen P. Streeter, of Worcester. He is believed to have come to New England before 1640. He may have preceded the settlers of 1642 in Gloucester, as Blynman's grant at that time included a lot primarily given to Streeter. He had a house in Gloucester, but did not remain long there after its permanent settlement. In 1644 he was in Charlestown, recorded as a householder, and he took the freeman's oath there May 29, 1644. He and his wife Ursula joined the church there March 21, 1652. The family genealogists think the proof conclusive that Stephen Streeter came from the Streeter family in Goudherst, England. The tradition in some branches of the American family is that the emigrant came from Surrey while Goudherst is in Kent, but there are representatives in both counties now and have been for centuries.

Stephen Streeter's will was made June 10, 1652. He was a shoemaker by trade. His wife Ursula is said to have been the daughter of Henry Adams of Braintree, but the relationship is not proved. After Streeter's death his widow married, October 13, 1656 or 7, in Charlestown, Massachusetts, Samuel Hosier, of Watertown. He died July 29, 1665. His widow married, about 1666, William Robinson, of Dorchester, whose name first appears in Dorchester records in 1636. He was killed July 6, 1668, being caught in the wheel of his mill and torn in pieces. His widow married Griffin Crafts, of Roxbury. She died before 1690. The children of Stephen and Ursula Streeter were: Stephen; Sarah, who was under eighteen when her father's will was made in 1652; Samuel; John, a soldier in King Phillip's War, 1675; Hannah, born November 10, 1644; Rebecca; Mary (posthumous) born about 1652.

Notes for SAMUEL HOSIER:

Per SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers, v. 2

HOSIER, SAMUEL, Watertown, came, probably in the fleet, 1630, with Winthrop, requested admission 19 October of that year and was received as freeman 18 May following, married 13 October 1657, probably as second wife Ursula Streeter, widow of Stephen, died 1665, and in his will of 28 July, proved 3 October of that year, He made her executrix, names Charles Stearns his son, gives Stephen Payne and his children and to his brother's son in England and his sister if living, to Mrs. Prout, to his wife's children and to his son Holland's children. The widow married William Robinson of Dorchester, and had Griffin Crafts, for fourth husband.

From Farmer's Genealogical Register of the First Settlers of New England:

HOSIER, SAMUEL, came to N. E. in 1630, and settled in Watertown; was admitted freeman 1631.

From Pope's The Pioneers of Massachusetts:

HOSIER, Samuel, planter, Watertown, frm. May 18, 1631; propr., town officer. He was guardian of Anne, dau. of Wm. Coleman of Colchester, Eng., 8 (6) 1639. [L.] He m. [2.] Oct. 13, 1657, Ursula, widow of Stephen Streeter of Charlestown.

He d. July 29, 1665. In his will dated July 28, he beq. to Charles Stearns; to bro.'s son in Eng.; to his sister and Mrs. Prout; to the church and pastor; to son Holland's ch., Joseph and Sarah; to wife Ursula's children; residue to wife, and after her death to Stephen Payne and his children; to my brother's son in England, and to my sister if she be living. In the Watertown Inventory of Grants Samuel Hosier was credited with six parcels: three acres of upland; thirty-five acres of upland "being a Great Dividend"; six acres of upland; five acres of plowland in the Hither Plain; five acres of Remote Meadow; and two acres in Plain Meadow [WaBOP 105]. In the Inventory of Possessions he held two lots: a homestall of three acres and twelve acres of upland [WaBOP 118]. In the Composite Inventory he held five parcels: homestall of three acres; twelve acres of upland; thirty-five acres of upland "being a Great Dividend"; three acres of upland; and a farm of thirty-nine acres [WaBOP 55-56].

In his will, dated 28 July 1665 and proved 3 October 1665, "Samuell Hossiar of Watertown ... planter, being at this present visited with sickness," bequeathed "all my houses and lands whatsoever I give to my dear wife and all my whole estate ... during her life, excepting £10 which I give to Charles Sternes"; after her decease to "Steevan Pane and his children £5 if it be then to be had and £10 to my brother's son in England if the estate hold out and also £6 to my sister if she be then living"; to "Mrs. Praut the best featherbed save one for a debt she paid for me"; to "the church 40s. if it hold out"; residue to "my wife's children" to be equally divided; to "our pastor 40s."; "my dear and loving wife Ursilla Hossiar" sole executor; to "my son Holland's children £3 or £4 apiece to Joseph & Sara if it be to be had"; "my beloved brethren Samuell Thachar and Brother Beeres & Charles Chadwick" overseers [MPR Case #11860].

The inventory of the estate of "Samuell Hossiar of Watertowne late deceased" was taken 4 August 1665 and totalled £192 3s., including £90 in real estate: "house and land thereunto belonging, orchard, meadows, dividend, farm, £90" [MPR Case #11860].

On 27 June 1671 "Ursula Robinson of Dorchester, ... widow of Samuel Hosier, late of Watertown," sold to Daniel Andrews of Salem, mason, thirty acres with dwellings, six acres of marsh and "two parcels of wasteland lying within the limits of the said town, by estimation about seventy acres" [MLR 4:301].

BIRTH: By about 1610 based on freemanship. (The "Streeter Bible" gives his birth as 1 June 1614, which seems too late [NEHGR 85:383].)

DEATH: Watertown 29 July 1665 [WaVR 27].

MARRIAGE: Charlestown 13 October 1657 "Urslin Streeter" [ChVR 1:20], widow of Stephen Streeter. She was Ursula Adams, daughter of Henry Adams, and she married four times, to Stephen Streeter, Samuel Hosier, William Robinson and GRIFFIN CRAFTS [NEHGR 85:382-85].

CHILDREN: None recorded.

ASSOCIATIONS: On 8 August 1639 Samuel Hosier, as tutor and guardian to Anne Coleman of Watertown, spinster, aged 16, made a letter of attorney to Jeffery Coleman of Colchester, Essex, saymaker, and James Wade of the same, clothier, executors of William Coleman late of Colchester, deceased, saymaker, father of the said Anne Coleman, to recover £5 due to her from his estate; this letter was renewed on 27 August 1640 [Lechford 151, 294].

COMMENTS: The fact that Samuel Hosier purchased his homelot and his first parcel of upland indicates that he was not resident in Watertown at the time these grants were made, about 1633 or 1634. The probable explanation is that he made a return trip to England about this time.

The grants to Samuel Hosier of Beaverbrook Plowlands and Remote Meadows were both for five acres. This would usually indicate that he had a wife and family, but there is no other evidence in the records for such persons. This may be the reason that both Pope and Savage suggest that Hosier had a first wife prior to his marriage to the widow Ursula Streeter.

On 22 May 1651 Samuel Hosier was one of four Watertown men who, "being fined four pounds at Cambridge Court for want of a town bushel, upon their requests have their fine remitted" [MBCR 3:229]. On 22 August 1659, for lack of fencing at Prospect Field, Samuel Hosier and others paid 10s. each [WaTR 62].

ROBINSON, WILLIAM, Dorchester 1636, freeman 18 May 1642, artillery company 1643, had Samuel, baptized 14 June 1640; Increase, 14 March 1642; Prudence, 1643; and Waiting, 26 April 1646; and he died 6 July 1668. His will, though without date, was allowed 31 July following. It names, beside his own offspring, Mary Streeter, my wife's daughter. His widow, Ursula who had been widow of Samuel Hosier, and Stephen Streeter at an earlier day, was not probably mother of these children, married 15 July 1673, Griffin Crafts; and this fourth husband buried her, but supplimented his loss by another wife. Prudence married John Bridge of Roxbury; and Waiting married Joseph Penniman of Braintree.

On 8 (or 9) September 1653 "At the request of the military company of the town of Roxbury, this Court doth confirm ... Sergeant Crafts for their lieut[enant] ..." [MBCR 3:327; 4:1:173]. On 21 February 1675/6 the General Court consented to "Left. Griffin Crafts, of Roxbury, request to lay down his commission" [MBCR 5:73].

ESTATE: On 20 February 1645/6 "Griffin Croft of Roxbury" sold to William Parkes of Roxbury for two oxen "two parcels of arable land, the one containing about three acres ... the other parcel ... containing about eight acres & half ..." [SLR 1:69]. On 16 May 1650 James Johnson of Boston sold to "Griffen Craft of Roxbury" for £5 15s. "3 lots of land lying altogether, at Muddy River as namely the lot of Cotton Flake [Flack], & the lot of Henery Messenger, & the lot of George Curtis" [SLR 5:384]. On 25 June 1651 the attorneys of Hugh Prichard confirmed a sale to "Griffin Craft" of one-eighth part of a marsh [SLR 1:144].

In the Roxbury land inventory of 1652 "Griffen Craft" held ten parcels of land, the first six of which had been granted to him by the town, and the other four of which he had acquired from other persons: "his house and lot three acres with six acres more or less at the end thereof"; six acres at the great hill; three acres of salt marsh at Muddy River; twenty acres adjoining to it; forty-two and a quarter acres and twenty rods "in the first and third allotments of the last division being the eight and twentieth lot"; thirty acres in the thousand acres near Dedham; "half a quarter of the island of marsh that was Mr. Hugh Prichard's"; sixteen acres called Squirrel's Delight; "two acres of swamp ... lying at the west end of Edward Morris his lot being part of Edward Morris his lot"; and three roods of swamp bought of Peleg Heath [RBOP 41-42].

In his will of 18 May 1689 Griffin Crafts bequeathed to wife Dorcas £7 10s. and "one book of Mr. Girren's works," to son Moses Craft £10 "be~sides what he oweth me already and all my wearing clothes," to son-in-law Nathaniel Wilson "besides fifteen pounds that he oweth me already five pounds more," to son-in-law Edward Adams £5, to daughter Hannah Wilson £10 if she outlive her husband, to daughter Abegal Adams £10 (in same manner as to Hannah Wilson), to grandchild Ephrim Craft a cow at age twenty-one, and to son Samuel Craft (executor) "all my housing and lands & estate of what kind & nature soever ... excepting the movables in the house"; signed by mark, witnessed by Joseph Griggs and William Gareis, and proved 9 November 1690 [SPR 8:8].

Administration on the estate of Griffin Crofts was granted on 27 January 1690/1 to "Elizabeth Crofts, widow, and Samuel Crofts, son of Samuel Crofts, late of Roxbury aforesaid, deceased" [SPR 8:155].

The inventory of "Griffin Croft late of Roxbury who died upon the fourth day of October" 1689 was taken 27 November 1689 by Samuel Ruggles Sr., Joseph Griggs and Samuel Gore, and totalled £288 10s., of which £250 was real estate: "dwelling house with outhousing, about 7 acres of meadow before the door together with the orchard," £120; and "about 33 acres of land adjoining to said orchard & meadows," £130 [SPR 8:224].

COMMENTS: As a result of the second marriage of Griffin Crafts, to Ursula, the daughter of Henry Adams, several dates for vital events in this family are found in a Streeter family Bible [NEHGR 85:382-85]. In that record the death date for Griffin Crafts is given as 21 August 1690, whereas his death date from his inventory was given as 4 October 1689, and the inventory was taken on 27 November 1689, so the 1690 date must be wrong. The death date for Ursula Adams is recorded in the Bible as 20 February 1649, which is wrong by decades, and the year of death of 1679 is an editorial suggestion. When the date of a vital event is found only in this Bible, then, it should be treated with some skepticism.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTE: John William Linzee Jr. and Joan S. Guilford have both published brief but useful accounts of Griffin Crafts and his family [Parker-Ruggles 455-61; Joan S. Guilford, The Ancestry of Dr. J.P. Guilford, Volume 1 (Orange, California, 1990), pp. 178-84].

Notes for JOHN ADAMS:

Per SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers, v. 1

ADAMS, JOHN, Cambridge, brought from England wife Ann, and daughter Rebecca, baptized before says Mitchell's Register when he adds five of the other children baptized in his church in right of the mother for the father did not join before 13 May 1666, viz. Mary, born 25 October 1652; John, 1 May 1655; and Joseph; but the "matchless" registrar does not mention the day or days of baptism though our thanks are hearty for his care to name Hannah, born 8 August 1657, baptized 17 June 1660; and Daniel, 14 September 1652. But Hannah died early in 1661, 25 January according to Mitchell, 25 February by Harris Epit. 169; and Daniel, died 14 May 1685. Another Daniel had preceeded him, but lived not, I presume, long enough to be baptized. He was a millwright, and Dr. Bond conjectured that he was son of George of Watertown, and when that was seen to be impossible he supposed he was brother. So numberless are the shoots of this name, that I dare not follow even so judicious a leader in this expedition. That he was son of Henry the first, as amiable credulity would assume, is highly improbable since he came twenty years or little less after that great New England progenitor, and so long outlived him dying between June and October 1706, and his wife still living. Rebecca married 24 November 1669, Nathaniel Patten, and died 18 December 1677; Mary married John Eames of Watertown, and died 1681. Inconsistencies appear in the family genealogy as to birth of her and her brother John.

From Farmer's Genealogical Register of the First Settlers of New England:

ADAMS, JOHN, Cambridge, whose wife was Anne, had children, Rebecca, born in England; Mary; John, born 1 May, 1653; Joseph; Hannah; Daniel, 1662. There was a John Adams of Concord, in 1650, and of Chelmsford in 1654 [Shattuck] who is supposed to have been one of the 8 sons of Henry Adams.

From Paige's History of Cambridge (p. 478)

ADAMS, John, was here about 1650. His children, by wife Ann, were Rebecca, baptized in England; Mary, John, Joseph, all baptized here; Hannah, baptized 17 June 1660, and died 25 January 1660-61; Daniel, baptized 14 September 1662, and died 14 May 1685. Rebecca married Nathaniel Patten, 24 November 1669, and died 18 December 1677. John removed to Sudbury, married Hannah Bent, had John, 1684, Daniel, 1685, Hannah, 1688, and was living in 1714. JOHN the father resided in Menotomy [Arlington], was a millwright, and died 1706, age about 85. His wife Ann was living in 1714.

Notes for JOSEPH ADAMS:

Per SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary of New England Settlers, v. 1

ADAMS, JOSEPH, Braintree, perhaps youngest son of the first Henry, born in England, about 1626, was a maltster, freeman 1653 or 1655, his name appearing on both years, as the wonderful carelessness of Secretary Rawson admits thirty, if not thirty-one (if we include Dwight), out of thirty-two of the earlier year to be reinserted two years later with the sole addition of one name at the top and one at the foot of the list, married 26 or 29 November 1650, Abigail (not Mary, as Alden has it), daughter of Gregory Baxter (not, as is given by Thayer, of John, who was her brother), had Hannah, born 13 November 1652; Joseph, 24 December 1654; John, 13 January 1657, or 11 February it being, uncertain which date is preferred on the record (but as he died in few days the earlier may denote birth and the latter, death) Abigail, 27 February 1659; John, and Bethia, twins 3 December 1661; Mary, 9 October 1663, died soon; Samuel, 6 September 1665; Mary, again, 25 February 1668; Peter, 7 February 1670; Jonathan, 31 January 1672; and Mehitabel, baptized 24 November 1678, not as sometimes read 23 November which was Saturday. His wife died 27 August 1692; and he died 6 December 1694. Thayer's Family Memorial in eleven pages furnishes large enumeration of descendants. His eldest daughter married 10 April 1672, Samuel Savil; Abigail married John Bass jun.; Bethia married 1680, John Webb; Mary married 16 December 1686, Samuel Webb; and Mehitabel married 21 July 1697, Thomas White. His will, of 18 July 1694, gives no mention of sons Samuel or Jonathan, but provides for the others and the five daughters using the name of husbands for all but the last.

 From Farmer's Genealogical Register of the First Settlers of New England:

It has been rendered illustrious by having furnished two presidents of our country, who, with their distant relative, Gov. Samuel Adams, will ever be remembered by friends of our civil and political institutions.

From America's First Families - Ancestor Roll Of Honor

EDWARD ADAMS, ENSIGN

Medfield, Massachusetts

(1629-1716)

Edward Adams was born 8 April 1629, the youngest son of Henry and Edith Squire Adams. He was baptized in Kingweston Somersetshire England on 16 April 1629. He was the third child born in Kingweston, as Henry had moved from Barton St David c.1621, after his son Peter's birth. The Adams family had lived in and around Barton St David for approximately six centuries

Edward sailed, with his parents, six brothers and one sister, to New England in 1638. His brother, Jonathan, who had just married Joan Close in February, stayed in England and worked on his Grandfather Henry Squire's farm in Baltonborough.

Henry Adams had acquired land in Mt Wollaston and settled there. Henry died in 1646 and all but three children were mentioned in his will. Edward, Joseph and Ursula were to have the family homestead. Ursula and Edward married and moved away, so Joseph wound up with the whole place and this was the birthplace of John and John Quincy Adams, Presidents.

About 1648, Edith Adams married, as her second husband, John Fussell. And, in 1652, Edith and John moved to what had been called Meadfield and was later known as Medfield. According to Henry's will, she was to give up her holdings if she married again.

On 22 May 1650 the town of Dedham was laid out on the west side of the Charles River. The land on the east side was laid out for the new town of Meadfield. On 22 May 1651, Medfield was incorporated. The grants of 1649 and 1650 then became known as the Old Grant and the New Grant; the New Grant had about 2000 acres. There were forty-seven (47) grantees for the New Grant. The land was divided into three sections; the River Section, the West Section and the East Section. Our Edward was granted 102 acres and his brother, Jonathan (who had come to New England at this time as his wife had died) was granted 84 acres. Edward's brother Henry was granted 148 acres and Peter 101 in the East Section. Amongst the grantees was a Widow Sheppard, who received 51 acres. (I believe, this was Edith's sister, Margaret, whose husband, John had died in 1650).

Edward married Lydia Penniman in 1652 in Boston, Lydia's home. Lydia was the daughter of James and Lydia Eliot Penniman, who had emigrated from England on the "Lion" in 1631. James was born in Chipping Ongar Essex England and Lydia was born in Nazeing Essex England. I have found a lot of information on Edward's family which list Rockwell as Lydia's surname. However, Robert Charles Anderson in "The Great Migration Begins" states in essence that no Rockwell with a daughter Lydia can be found. So, I and others accept Lydia Penniman as Edward's first wife.

On 3 May 1654, Edward and his stepfather were admitted Freemen. (MACOLRECVol 14, part I, p.460).

In 1659, Edward acquired his property in the New Grant. His lot was #17.

On 28 October 1663, Edward was a deponent in a suit concerning a colt and his brother, Jonathan. (SuffCoCourt files, #606).

In 1689, Edward was made an Ensign in the Medfield Company of Militia.

Between 1689 and 1702, Edward was elected a Representative to the Massachusetts General Court several times.

In 1690, Edward's brother Peter died and Edward was appointed guardian of Peter's son, Samuel, until he reached his majority.

On 6 February 1688, Ensign Edward Adams is listed as one of the members attending a general meeting of the Freeholders of Medfield. This list was found in the "History of Medway" (p.38).

Medway was incorporated 25 October 1713 and the Adams listed as Founders of the Town were Daniel JR, Jasper, John, Jonathan, JR & SR, Joseph, Obadiah, and Peter Adams.

The History also carries two statements concerning Edward's family:

1."Jonathan Adams, son of Edward, in 1688 settled on the turnpike near the Medfield Meadows where Mr. William Adams now lives."

2."John Adams, a son of Edward Adams of Medfield, settled near the Medway pound, which at that date must have been not far from The Neck."

In 1678 Edward married Abigail Craft Ruggles-Day daughter of Lieutenant Griffin and Alice Craft; and widow of John Ruggles and Ralph Day. In 1689 Griffin Craft died and Edward is mentioned in his will thusly; "to son-in-law Edward Adams five pounds....to daughter Abegal Adams ten pounds if she outlive her husband." Abigail did not outlive her husband; she died in 1707.

In 1710, at the age of 81, Edward married Sarah Taylor, daughter of John and Sarah Taylor of Somersetshire England.

Edward died 12 November 1716, aged 87. His wife, Sarah Taylor Adams survived him.

Edward's will reads in part: "Taking notice that his wife was provided for before their marriage and that his sons, Jonathan and John, were formerly supplied by him with lds. and Edward with moveables and money, directs now that his property be divided in nine equal parts, whereof the children of his son Eliashib deceased, to have two; James and Henry each two and his daughters Lydia Daniel, Sarah Turner, and Mehitable Faxon each one." (Medfield records XIX 225) His will was written 19 May 1715; and probated 3 December 1716.

The Children of Edward ADAMS and Lydia PENNIMAN were.

1. Lydia Adams born 12 July 1653; died 3 March 1731; married 12 December 1672, James Allen son of James and Anna Guild Allen. James died c.1691 and Lydia married 21 January 1697, Joseph Daniels son of Robert and Elizabeth Morse Daniels.

35. Andrew Watkins, twenty acres; south of Ruggles'.

Thirty eight persons had thus been constituted proprietors of the south half of New Roxbury. All subsequent divisions of woodland upland and meadow were to be based upon the number of acres comprised in each man's home-lot, and all public charges levied in the same proportion. It was agreed by the proprietors, "That if any man should neglect to take actual possession of his lot, by not breaking up ground, nor fencing nor improving by the middle of May, 1687, he should forfeit twenty shillings." At a proprietors' meeting, held November 3, at the house of Thomas Lyon, three additional home-lots were distributed-No. 38 to Joseph Peake, north of Sawmill Brook; No. 39 to John Holmes, north part of east vale, south of Sawmill Brook; No. 40 to John Chandler, Jun., west side the highway, adjoining that laid out to his father.

Notes for THOMAS FISK:

From "LUCINDA'S LOVE STORY" by Edith Hurlbutt Sanderson:

"My great-great-grandparents - Thomas Fiske and Lucinda Trowbridge - were born during the years of the American Revolution. At the time of their marriage on February 9, 1806, in Westmoreland, New Hampshire, Thomas was just a few weeks short of his thirty-second birthday, and Lucinda was in her twenty-fourth year. The stormy days of the Revolution were over, Thomas Jefferson was president, and the country was at peace. And now surely the young couple were launched on a happy future together. Why not? Were they not deeply in love?"

Behind this seemingly prosaic union of two prominent New England families, however, lay an unusual story of the two years preceding their marriage. It had been a time that had tested both Thomas and Lucinda and thrown their families into something of a crisis, for Thomas Fiske was a deaf mute.

At the age of two, he had suffered a severe case of scarlet fever which left him unable to hear. He could not follow the sounds of speech by those about him, and so he never learned to talk. His quick mind, however, soon helped him to read intelligently, to handle numbers accurately, and to communicate with others especially after he had mastered the art of writing.

The picture we have of his mother shows her to be a refined, kind and gentle person who would give very special attention to her handicapped son. Whether or not he ever "tagged along" and was allowed to attend school at times with his brothers and sisters we do not know. We can be sure, however, that his brothers - Nathaniel, two years older, and John, four years younger - were largely responsible for his early proficiency in using a sign language of their own devising. How he learned to read and write can only be guessed, but we know that his younger sister, Sally, in his young manhood was his constant aid in writing letters.

Thomas, in his early adult years, followed the rather usual path of many of the Fiske family, that of manufacturing. For a time he lived in Dorchester, Massachusetts where he manufactured playing cards, being under bonds to the amount of seven hundred dollars, not to reveal the secret of the process.

ABIGAIL HOWE

Mother of THOMAS FISKE

Born in 1752

Married HON. JOHN FISKE, prob. 1771

Died April, 1829

What the New Englanders call "good stock" is to be noted in the inheritance of both the Fiske and Trowbridge families. Thomas' father, the Hon. John Fiske, was born in Framingham, Massachusetts. In the war-threatened year of 1771, he married Abigail Howe. Of their ten children, Thomas, born in 1774, was the second in line. The family continued to live in Framingham, where John Fiske served as Justice of the Peace and Selectman. He was also a Representative in the Massachusetts Legislature. At the time of the Revolutionary War he responded to the Lexington Alarm in a company of minutemen under Captain Simon Edgel.

It is documented that the Fiske family was a prominent one having descended from a noble family in England. After the original Nathaniel Fiske branch migrated to America about 1640, their descendants played important roles in the establishment of the colonies and the ultimate emergence of the United States. (1)

And what of the Trowbridge family? They, too, had migrated from England, the earliest of the name having arrived in America in 1636, the year of the founding of Harvard College. Genealogical sources indicate that the Trowbridges were public-spirited and well-endowed with abilities to take prominent parts in the early development of their adopted country. (2) Lucinda's grandfather, Daniel Trowbridge, her father and at least two of her uncles took active parts in the Revolutionary War. One instance was when each contributed money to charter or purchase a vessel to be sent to the West Indies for salt and other necessary items.

Lucinda's father, James Trowbridge in 1766 married Frances Darrow, and the family settled in Pomfret, Connecticut, where the six children of this marriage were born, including Lucinda's older brother Clement. She herself was born in 1782, the youngest in this family circle. When she was only three months old, her mother died. A month later, however, she had a stepmother, Mary Kendall - the only mother Lucinda knew in her early years."

Notes for MOSES FISK:

Obituary from "Nashville Daily Republican Banner" on August 5, 1840:

DIED,

On Sunday the 26th of July, at 3o'clock, MOSES FISK, Esq. late resident of Hilham, Ten.----aged 80 years, 1 month and 14 days.

from the "Cookeville Citizen" December 8, 1964:

"Lore and Legend of the Upper Cumberlands" by E. G. Rogers

Fisk Was Great Mathematician

Moses Fisk once planned his "Trans-Alleghenia" empire to be located at Hilham and including the surrounding area. His project was not unlike that envisioned by Thomas Hughes at Rugby, Tennessee, except reversed in the matter of time.

Born in Grafton, Massachusetts in 1759, graduated from Dartmouth in 1786 where he taught until 1795, Fisk then came to Tennessee in the interest of land settlements. As land representative for one of the two agencies receiving large grants for the settlement of the Cumberland valley, he soon began to acquire extensive tracts of land of his own.

His holdings within about four years extended from Smith County to the Cherokee Indian line about three and one-half miles east of Livingston. He was employed by the Storm Agency out of New York which extended further grants to John Donelson and others.

As each of the counties, Smith in 1789, Jackson in 1801, and then Overton were carved out of Sumner, Fisk played a very personal role as a friend to the leaders concerned with the organization of each of the respective counties. He settled in Overton and established Hilham in 1803.

Hilham was located on a creek which flows into Roaring River and the Cumberland and was therefore located upon the reservation of North Carolina for her soldiers of the Continental line in the Revolution. Fisk therefore requested and received a renewal of his grant.

He began immediately to survey and build roads leading into his empire. He first constructed the "Meridian Road" which is known as the Fisk Road as it leads into Cookeville. He opened another road from Sparta to Hilham, and later extended this road on to Burkesville, Kentucky. Another was constructed from Hilham "to the highlands south of Roaring River." He was surveyor in laying out the Walton Road in 1799-1801. He had planned another road connecting Hilham with Jackson County near Fort Blount.

Fisk was one of the greatest mathematicians and surveyors of his day, or perhaps of any period. As a business man he was a great promoter and organizer. In education he was an astute scholar. He and his friend Sampson Williams of Smith County decided to build a school at Hilham. This may have been a part of his earlier dream of Trans-Alleghenia. Together they established Hilham Academy, the first school for girls south of the Ohio River. Williams [unreadable] contributed 2000 acres of land toward its establishment.

It is said that the school never had a very large enrollment. Financially able parents were a bit skeptical about sending their daughters to school into what was then considered a frontier wilderness. And those less distant found frontier travel difficult.

The original structure was destroyed by fire in 1830. The buildings were restored, but the administration of the school passed into other hands as Fisk himself died in 1843.

There was an effort to re-establish the school as the Hilham Academy in 1902, as a memorial objective. The school was to be non-sectarian, coeducational, and college preparatory. It operated as such for about twenty years or about 1925 since when it has been occupied as a residence. This is the building which presently stands to the right of the road about one mile out of Hilham as one approaches that town from Cookeville.

The empire of Fisk began to crumble before it matured. The great rush of frontier settlement may have been a factor. Because of his skill as a mathematician and surveyor, much of his time soon became involved in this type of work, for which he accumulated quite a fortune in lands. But it was when he began to go into the merchantile business on the Cumberland as Jackson and Winchester had done around Nashville that his fortunes began decline.

from "The Chattanooga Sunday Times" January 3, 1933, page 11:

Leaves From The Family Tree

Moses Fisk, Who Located in That Part of Smith County Which Later Became Overton County, Laid Out Hilham, Overton's Oldest Town, in 1805, and Enndowed Fisk Female Academy, One of the First Institutions of Its Kind in America.

by Penelope Johnson Allen, State Chairman of Genealogical Records, Tennessee Society, D.A.R.

Moses Fisk, pioneer educator and surveyor of Tennessee, was a native of Grafton, Mass., where he was born in the year 1759. He was the son of a Revolutionary soldier and a descendant of the Fiske family of Massachusetts, which traces its lineage through Nathan Fiske, who was born at Weybread, county of Suffolk, England, and emigrated to America in 1640, locating at Watertown, in the colony of Massachusetts. Nathan Fiske was the son of Jeffery Fiske, who was descended from Symon Fiske, lord of the manor of Standbaugh [Staudhaugh], Suffolk, in the time of King Henry VIII, and the line is traced on back to Daniel Fiske, of Laxfield, Suffolk, 1208.

The name of the Tennessee family is usually spelled "Fisk" without the final "e," although it appears as "Fiske" on the tombstones of some of the children of the pioneer Moses Fisk.

Moses Fisk attended Dartmouth college, from which institution he was graduated in 1786, and from 1788 to 1795 he was employed as a tutor for his alma mater.

As early as July 1, 1796, President John Wheelock, of Dartmouth, was trying to interest the Society for Propagating Christian Knowledge, of Scotland, in establishing a mission among the Cherokee Indians, and Moses Fisk came to Tennessee in that year to further the plans of his preceptor.

In Philadelphia, he met William Blount, the newly elected senator from the new state, and secured a letter of introduction from Blount to Gov. Sevier. After visiting the country in the west, he returned to New England to further the plans of President Wheelock.

In 1799 Fisk was back in Tennessee. He was especially skilled in mathematics, and his knowledge of surveying secured him employment in laying off many of the boundaries of lands that were granted by the state.

Moses Fisk located in that part of Smith county which in time became Overton county, and he did much towards the development of that section of Tennessee. Upon the formation of Smith county the first court was held on Dec. 16, 1799, and the oath of office to officiating magistrates was administered by Moses Fisk, who was appointed clerk pro tem.

Not long after his arrival in Tennessee it is said that Moses Fisk was offered the presidency of the University of North Carolina, through Mr. Blount, but declined because of his interest in pursuing the plan for education on the frontier.

Through Blount's influence, Moses Fisk entered the legal profession and, although he never practiced law, in 1803 he was authorized by the state legislature to compile the laws of this state and those of North Carolina in force in the state. His compilation was never published, as the work of Judge Haywood appeared before his was ready for submission to the legislature.

Under the act of 1801 authorizing the governor to appoint three commissioners, "one of whom shall be a mathematician capable of taking latitude," to settle and locate the true boundary line between this and the state of Virginia, Fisk was appointed by Gov. Roane "commissioner and mathematician." And again in 1817 he was requested by Gov. Joseph McMinn to act as mathematician, to determine the true point of latitude taken on the northern boundary of the state, "with a view to aid in the adjustment of differences between us and the Kentuckians."

For many years Moses Fisk served as a member of the court in Overton county, where he was regarded as one of the outstanding citizens. He invested largely in land and at the time of his death is said to have owned about 30,000 acres in Overton, White, Jackson and the present county of Clay.

Celina, one of the most important trading and shipping towns in the upper Cumberland region, and the present county seat of Clay county, was named for Celina, the oldest daughter of Moses Fisk.

Hilham, the oldest town in Overton county, was laid out by Moses Fisk in 1805 on one of his choice boundaries, and he spent largely of his means towards its development. He laid out a system of turnpike roads centering in the town and, together with his friend, Sampson Williams, endowed a female school, known as Fisk Female academy, which was chartered by the legislature in 1808. This was one of the first institutions of its kind in America.

The existence of the Female academy appears to have been shortened and it was followed by a school of boys which flourished up until a short time before the death of Mr. Fisk. Many men who later became distinguished in public life in Tennessee studied with the pioneer educator, and on the hill across the road from his house the remains of the old brick academy may still be seen.

Among his students were Samuel and Hopkins Turney, both later judges and men of distinction; and the Hon. James A. Whiteside, who contributed to the early development of Chattanooga, was another who was trained by Mr. Fisk. Gen. E. W. Ripley, one of his pupils, in 1817 wrote that the precepts which Fisk had afforded were responsible for his success in life.

Moses Fisk was a great educator and his influence lived in the lives of the many young men who afterward became distinguished in the service of their country.

In addition to his activities as a teacher, Fisk also found time for writing. In the American Historical Magazine for January, 1897, is published Fisk's "Historical Sketch of Tennessee," with an introductory biography by the Hon. A. V. Goodpasture. This sketch was first published in the Massachusetts Historical Collections, Second Series, Vol. 7, under date of July 1, 1816, and is one of the earliest accounts of the historical beginnings of the state. Mr. Fisk also assisted J. Morse whose geography he revised for this part of the country. He was a member of the American Antiquarian society of Worcester, Mass., and a paper from his pen on the antiquities of Tennessee was published in the first volume of its transactions in 1820.

MOSES FISK, born 1759, Grafton, Mass.; died 1843, Hilham, Overton county, Tennessee, married Nancy Shultz, who survived her husband many years and after her death was buried by his side in the graveyard at Hilham. Plain slabs of stone, inscribed "Moses Fisk" and "Nancy Fisk" mark the graves of the pioneer educator and his wife. Many others of this family are buried on adjoining lots.

George Christian was the son of George Christian, a pioneer settler of Overton county, who was born in 1767 and died in Overton county in 1868. George Christian, Jr. served as sheriff and three terms as clerk of the circuit court of Overton county. This family lived at one time in Livingston and later located on a 400-acre tract of land adjoining Hilham which was given by Moses Fisk to his daughter Celina.....(more later)
